General CDE Revision History Document

September 2025 Revisions

The General Core and Disease Core Classification definitions were revised as listed below.

The updated General Core definition applies to all disorders. The updated Disease Core definition applies to all disorders, except those with disorder-specific definitions (Myalgic Encephalomyelitis/Chronic Fatigue Syndrome, NeuroRehab, Spinal Cord Injury, and Traumatic Brain Injury). For disorder-specific Disease Core definitions changes, see the disorder's revision history.

The Glossary page was updated to add separate definitions for General Core and Disease Core and remove the Core CDE definition.

General Core

Previous definition: A data element that is required for all NINDS funded studies.

Updated definition: A data element that collects essential information relevant and applicable to any study, regardless of the specific disease area or research domain. The NINDS and its appointed General CDE Steering Committee assign the General Core classification based on the current clinical research best practices. This classification applies to both the General CDEs and the Disease-specific CDEs. These CDEs are strongly recommended. General Core CDEs include information collected in all types of research, e.g., demographics and medical history.

Disease Core

Previous definition: A data element that collects essential information applicable to any disease-specific study, including all therapeutic areas. The NINDS and its appointed working groups assign the disease "Core" classification based on the current clinical research best practices. In each case, the disease Core CDEs are a small subset of the available CDEs, where it is anticipated that investigators will need to collect the disease Core CDEs on any type of study. These are required for all disease-specific studies

Updated definition: A data element that collects essential information applicable to a disease-specific study. The NINDS and its appointed working groups assign the Disease Core classification based on the current clinical research best practices. The Disease Core CDEs are a small subset of CDEs that are strongly recommended to be collected by investigators for all disease-specific studies.

October 2024 Revisions

The following case report forms (CRFs) were updated. The corresponding data dictionaries (i.e., CDE Detail Reports) have been modified in accordance with the form changes. All new CDEs were classified as Supplemental. Updates to add social determinants of health (SDOH) related CDEs to the Demographics CRF were harmonized with SCHARE (Science Collaborative for Health and Artificial Intelligence Reduction of Errors) CDEs from the National Institute on Minority Health and Health Disparities (NIMHD). Updates to adverse events (AE)/serious adverse events (SAE) related CRFs include changes to reflect current U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) guidance, Cancer Therapy Evaluation Program (CTEP) guidance, and Clinical Data Interchange Standards Consortium (CDISC) standards.

January 2013 Revisions

Overview

There have been substantial additions of existing data elements to the General CDE materials to allow increased application of these data elements to other disease areas where they would be relevant for data collection. Where disease-specific CDEs were identified that had utility to more than one disease, they have been added as Supplemental CDEs for General NINDS CDEs. Other changes, since the previous revision release in June 2012, including the following:

- The footers of all case report form (CRF) modules or “forms” was revised to indicate correct Classification and Version number.
- Changes were made to some General CDEs to reassign their Classification from Core to Supplemental to reduce the number of Core CDEs, in consideration and recognition that some CDEs are not applicable for all study types. The Core CDEs are now a minimum set that should apply to any study of a neurological disorder that receives support from the NINDS.
- The data elements now assigned to General neurological disorders include many CDEs which can be used when Imaging is part of a study.
- The pages for Frontotemporal Dementia (FTD) were removed from the NINDS CDE website. Existing dementia CDEs that are used in Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis studies will be maintained. For more information on FTD, please visit the National Institute on Aging (NIA)

June 2012 Revisions

Overview

There have been significant changes to the content and structure of the General CDE materials since the previous revision release in February 2011 including the following:

Every attempt was made to remove duplication and redundancy in the General CDEs;

The General CDEs were harmonized with other large national and international standardization initiatives and efforts [e.g., International Conference on Harmonisation (ICH), Logical Observation Identifiers Names and Codes (LOINC), International Classification of Diseases (ICD), Unified Code for Units of Measure (UCUM)]

- The majority of element names and definitions were improved.
- The permissible values and references of some elements were revised; and
- The version numbers of all forms were updated.

The corresponding data dictionaries (i.e., CDE Detailed Report) and instructions have been modified in accordance with the form changes.

CRF Module/ Guideline	Current Version	Previous Version	Change Classification	Change Type	Description of Change
All	Varies	Varies	Minor	Modified CDEs	Nearly all CDE names and definitions were updated to achieve greater internal consistency.
All	Varies	Varies	Minor	Modified CDEs	Date, Time, and Time type value CDEs capturing a single point in time were merged into one Date and Time element. For example, Date of Birth, Time of Birth, and Time Type Value became Date and time of Birth. The instructions for date and time elements specify that the data should be recorded to the level of detail known.
All	Varies	Varies	Minor	Modified CDEs	CDEs that allowed free text to specify an answer of "Other" were merged into the preceding element. For example, "Family medical history condition other specify" was deleted and "Family history medical condition type" was given a permissible value for "Other, specify".

February 2011 Revisions

Overview

There have been significant changes to the content and structure of the General CDE materials since the previous revision release in November 2008 including the following:

- The header of all case report form (CRF) modules or “forms” was revised;
- The version number of all forms was updated;
- Many element definitions and form instructions were improved and now provide additional clarification; and
- All elements related to a form not being completed or a test not being performed (e.g., Form not Done) were removed.
- The corresponding data dictionaries and Manuals of Procedures (MOPs) have been modified in accordance with the form changes.

Prior to the February 2011 revisions, the NINDS CDE Team worked to harmonize the General CDEs with the National Cancer Institute’s caBIG (cancer Biomedical Informatics Grid) CDE Standards. Many of the form and CDE revisions incorporated into the February 2011 revision release resulted from this harmonization work.
